We have good news again!
WE SURVIVED Y2K!

Sorry to disappoint the "Doomsdayers", but the electricity and water are running, and the sun came up. Over the holidays, I was able to spend a little time at the field observing seasoned pilots, new members, and potential members. I was quite impressed with the overall positive attitude of everyone present. Casual observation noted that everyone is willing to help each other, safety is a major concern, and new ideas are flourishing. I have received several responses indicating that spending time at our meetings on new building ideas, new products, and additional plane-of-the-month candidates is benefiting the club.

I would also like to mention a good idea brought to me about starting a workshop for answering questions on building or repairing planes. If anyone has suggestions on getting this workshop started, please contact me. Any and all responses would be appreciated. My goal as President of this club is to try to revive interest in modeling, and educating members in proper techniques on setting planes up.

At the February meeting, Al Gaudiosi will be informing us about servos. Why's, how's and what if's will be answered there, so bring any questions that you may have concerning servos to the February meeting.

I would like to thank Norm Skinner for stepping forward, and volunteering as Safety Director. I am still looking for someone to fill the position of Field Maintenance Director. If you are interested, please contact me.

ANY VOLUNTEERS????

Please tell your fellow members and friends to be present at these meetings. We all might learn something. Also, remember safety is everyone's responsibility. Don't forget roses for your sweetheart on Valentine's Day, and if you have no sweetheart, buy a new prop for your plane. Keep 'em flying and we'll see you at the February meeting.
